

ECO

Today, eco-products are very popular. They are chosen by people who are concerned about the state of the environment, think about the future and who want to emphasize their original style and be closer to nature. Striving to keep up with the times and satisfy the needs of the modern consumer as much as possible, our company has created a line of «ECO Wood» products. The main distinguishing feature of the products of this line is the material from which the products are made. WPC, or wood-polymer composite, is made from cork wood shavings and primary polymers. The percentage of organic inclusion in the composition of the composite is from 15 to 40%, depending on the fraction of cork wood chips and the colour of the product. The organic component reduces the amount of plastic used and the decomposition time of the creation, thereby minimizing the negative impact on the environment. Products made of WPC are subject to secondary processing using methods that do not differ from conventional processing methods of polymers.

In terms of their properties, products made from WPC are in no way inferior to products made from polymers without the addition of organic components. Products from DPK can be washed in the dishwasher, or used in the freezer. These products do not lose colour during operation, do not absorb extraneous odours, are safe in contact with food products, are resistant to temperature fluctuations, durable and practical. Since the «ECO Wood» line is made in natural colours, the products do not create visual noise, looks good in any interior and evoke pleasant sensations upon tactile contact.

Eco-products are an opportunity, even a little, to make our Earth better. By choosing eco, you care about the environment, you choose the future!
